OHA Junior Newsletter

Winter 2020

For OHA junior members and children of family members

POSTER
AND TARGET
INSIDE!

IT'S TIME TO PLAN YOUR BIG GAME HUNTS!

It may still be winter, but it's already time to plan your 2020 big game hunts. The 2020 Oregon Big Game Regulations are out, and inside you will find great hunting opportunities for kids, such as youth hunts for deer, elk and antelope. The deadline to apply for big game hunts is May 15, so grab the new regulations and plan your big game hunts now. See the next page for more.

Autumn Daggett took this big mule deer last year on a youth hunt in the Interstate Unit.

TAKE AIM AT A BIG GAME HUNT

Oregon's young guns will get a shot at special big game hunts to aim for in 2020. The new 2020 Oregon Big Game Regulations are out, and they offer many youth hunts for kids only, plus guaranteed first-time tags in the general big game tag drawing again in 2020.

The Mentored Youth Hunter Program allows kids who haven't yet passed Hunter Education to hunt under the close supervision of an adult.

Oregon will offer youth hunts again this coming year for deer, elk, antelope and spring bear. The new regulations list 29 youth deer hunts, 53 youth elk hunts, 3 youth spring bear hunts, and 4 youth antelope hunts. Some of the youth hunts can be harder to draw than adult hunts, so pay attention to how many hunters applied last year. The deadline to apply is May 15.

Oregon's "first-time hunter" program allows a hunter under age 18 who is unsuccessful in the controlled hunt drawing for deer or elk tags to reapply for a controlled hunt having a minimum number of tags and be guaranteed a first-time tag.

For more details about Oregon's "First-time hunter program," see the 2020 Oregon Big Game Regulations.

YOUNG GUNS BAG THEIR BIRDS AT YOUTH HUNTS

Young Oregon hunters got a chance to be outstanding in the field in September at youth upland bird hunts hosted by the Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife at locations around the state. Wild game birds live in many of the hunt areas, but more pheasants were released before the youth hunts.

The pheasants are bought with some of the money that hunters pay for their Oregon Upland Game Bird Stamps. The Oregon Hunters Association and other hunting groups also buy some extra pheasants to give young hunters more chances to bag a bird.

At some of the hunts, OHA and other sportsmen's groups cook breakfast and lunch for young hunters and their families, and some of the volunteers go out in the field with kids to help them find birds. Many of the hunts also offer clay target shooting, and OHA members volunteer to help with that, as well.

ELK

The American elk, also called wapiti, is the second largest member of the deer family; only moose are bigger.

Cows usually have only one calf each year, in late spring. The calves can run within a few hours after birth. They also can keep still, when signaled by the mother.

In September, during the rut or mating season, bull elk make a loud sound to impress cows and scare off other bulls. The sound is called bugling.

Elk need large areas of habitat where they can forage for grasses, twigs, leaves and other plant food. They migrate between mountains and valleys as the seasons change. During the winter when elk visit low-lying areas where people live and farm, grazing elk sometimes damage crops and fences. Groups like the Oregon Hunters Association work with farmers, ranchers and the Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife to find ways to provide food for elk and protect private property at the same time.

Remember to Report Your Hunt Results!

All hunters need to report the results from all their big game or turkey seasons, even if they did not hunt.

The Oregon Department of Fish and Wildlife needs to know how many animals are taken, so they can get a better idea of how our big game herds are doing, and can help the animals in areas where it's needed.

If you don't report, you will have to pay a $25 penalty.

You must report results for your fall tags by Jan. 31 and winter tags by April 15.

To report your harvest, visit the ODFW's website for harvest reporting at www.dfw.state.or.us/resources/hunting/reporting or call toll free 1-866-947-ODFW (6339).

HYPOTHERMIA: THE SILENT KILLER OF THE OUTDOORS

Hypothermia happens when your core body temperature becomes colder than it should be – just the opposite of when you are sick and have a fever.

Hunters are at higher risk for hypothermia because they are often outside in cold, wet, and windy conditions. Wet or damp clothes (from rain, sweat, or falling in a stream or lake) increase this risk, particularly if it is windy outside.

Every hunter should know how to prevent hypothermia, recognize its symptoms and treat it.

Hypothermia prevention, symptoms and treatment

Prevention:

- Dress properly – avoid cotton clothing
- Avoid risky weather conditions
- Dry out as quickly as you can when you get wet
- Eat high-calorie foods to produce body heat

Symptoms

- Uncontrolled shivering
- Slow, slurred speech
- Lack of movement, stumbling and/or dropping things
- Memory loss

Winter hunts can get you cold and wet, and that's a dangerous combo.

- Strange behavior (such as removing clothing)
- Sleepiness or unconsciousness

Treatment

- Find shelter immediately – do not wait!
- Replace wet clothing with dry clothing
- Give warm liquids, but no alcohol or caffeine
- Warm with blankets or another's body heat
- Warm with canteens of hot water placed against the body

Sign up now for Hunter Ed

The time to sign up for Hunter Education courses is not when you want to hunt. Classes fill up fast, and it's very hard to find a class by summer, so get in now. Oregon's Hunter Education course is required for first-time hunters under the age of 18. For information about enrolling in a Hunter Education program, call 503-947-6028, or log on at:

www.dfw.state.or.us/education/hunter

10 COMMANDMENTS OF SHOOTING SAFETY

- 1. Control the direction of your firearm's muzzle. Carry your firearm safely, keeping the safety on until ready to shoot. Keep your finger off the trigger until ready to shoot.
- 2. Identify your target and what is beyond it. Know the identifying features of the game you hunt.
- 3. Treat every firearm as if it is loaded.
- 4. Be sure the barrel and action are clear of obstructions and that you have only ammunition of the proper size for the firearm you are carrying.
- 5. Unload firearms when not in use. Leave actions open. Firearms should be cased and unloaded while in a vehicle traveling to and from shooting areas.
- 6. Never point a firearm at anything you do not want to shoot. Avoid all horseplay with a firearm.
- 7. Never climb or jump with a loaded firearm. Never pull a firearm toward you by the muzzle.
- 8. Never fire a bullet at a flat, hard surface or water. With targets, be sure your backstop is adequate.
- 9. Store guns and ammunition separately in locked spaces out of reach of children and careless adults.
- 10. Avoid alcoholic beverages and drugs before or during shooting.

OHA MEMBER PLEDGE

As an OHA member, I pledge to:

- Respect the environment and wildlife;
- Respect property and landowners;
- Improve my outdoor skills and understanding of wildlife;
- Support wildlife and habitat conservation;
- Know and obey the law;
- Hunt safely;
- Show consideration of nonhunters;
- Abide by the rules of fair chase;
- Hunt only with ethical hunters; and
- Pass on an ethical hunting tradition.

YOUNG GUNS BIGHORN TARGET

BIGHORN SHEEP

Bighorn sheep live in some of eastern Oregon's highest and rockiest country. Bighorn sheep were once wiped out in Oregon by settlers and disease spread by their tame sheep. Sportsmen helped bring bighorns back to Oregon.
